

The Etisalat Prize for Children's literature

Tamer Institute for Community Education and Sonia Nimer, publisher and author of the young adults book “Wonderful Trips in the Mysterious World” receive the Etisalat Prize for Children's literature as the best young adults' book in 2014. Announced this morning, during the opening of the Sharjah International Book Fair, the book, published in 2013, was named the best Arab young adults book. Tamer Institute congratulates the Palestinian society, the writer and every contributor to this prestigious achievement. Since published, the book was assumed credit by the reading community in Palestine comprising of young adults, adults and critics. As all of Tamer's publications, the book was distributed to at least 1200 public and school libraries inside Palestine. Discussion circles were organized around the book in at least 100 of the libraries.

Wonder Travels in Mysterious Lands is a novel for young adults, written by Sonia Nimr and published in 2013 by Tamer Institute. The cover illustration of the book is made by Lubna Taha. Sonia in her novel creates a world of fantasy with a touch of reality, where she brings back the dreams of travelling around the world, and challenges stereotypes through her heroine “Qamar”, where readers spend a long journey with her crossing dangerous oceans and deserts.
